

Following the success of Tutankhamun and the Gold Age of the Pharaohs, AEG, Arts and Exhibitions International (AEI) BODY WORLDS & The Mirror of Time will make its world premiere at The O₂ bubble in Autumn 2008. Anthony said:-

“We are delighted to be providing accounting, VAT, payroll and other advisory services for this event.”

This is the third and latest instalment of the groundbreaking anatomical exhibitions by our trailblazing client, scientist Dr. Günter von Hagens. It will feature a special presentation on the human life cycle and ageing. The exhibit shows the complexity, resilience and vulnerability of the human body through studies of the human body in distress, disease and optimal health.

Visitors to The Mirror of Time will witness the arc of ageing – the body living through time from the spark of conception to old age refracted through the latest findings in longevity and ageing science. “The older I get, the more I realize that death is normal and that it is life that is exceptional,” said Dr. von Hagens. “I hope this exhibition will encourage people to strive to live with inspiration every day throughout their lives.”

The new exhibition comes to The O₂ hot on the heels of this year’s blockbuster show,

Anthony Klein & Dr. Günter von Hagens

Tutankhamun and the Age of the Pharaohs, which recently surpassed one million tickets sold since opening in November 2007. Anthony and Sharon, his wife, were at the opening at the Manchester Museum of Science & Industry.

“The bar has been set with the success of the Tutankhamun exhibition and we searched far and wide to make the next exhibition at The O₂ as compelling and universal,” said John Norman, president, AEI. “We believe BODY WORLDS & The Mirror of Time will be London’s next blockbuster exhibition.”

The only anatomical exhibition with an established body donation program and the informed legal consent of those on display, BODY WORLDS will include more than 200 plastinates – specimens preserved through Dr. von Hagens remarkable scientific process, Plastination.
